

GEORGE WINGFIELD REPLIES TO CHARGES MADE BY DEMOCRATIC TRANSIENT PRESS

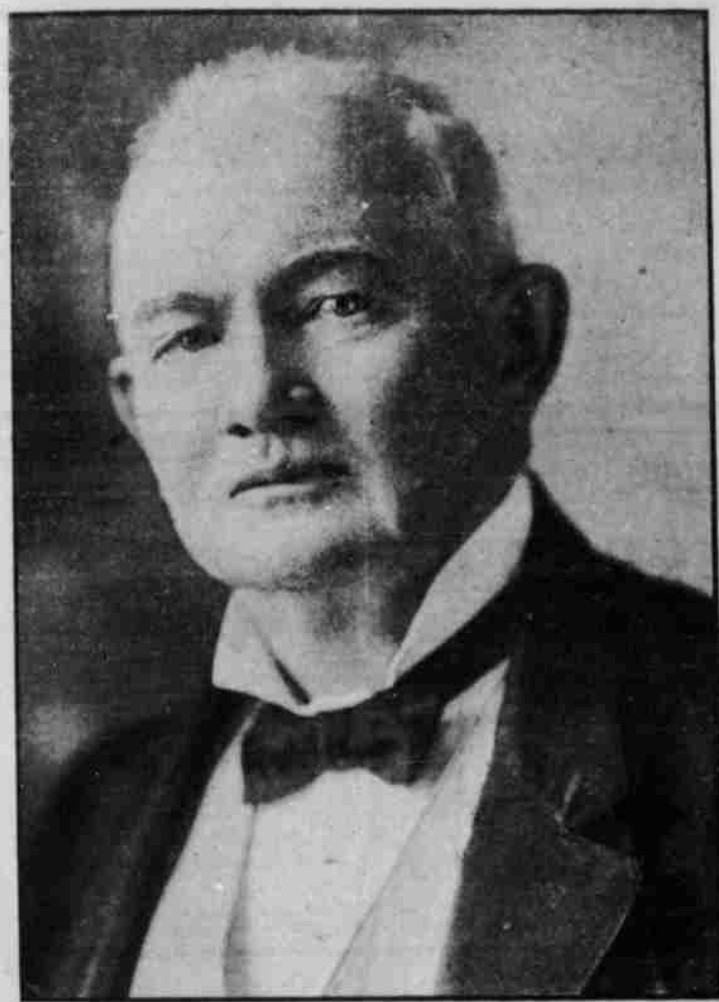

In view of certain accusations which have appeared in several transient newspapers within the past few days, I consider it quite proper to say to the public that I am sincerely desirous of the election of Senator Massey and Congressman Roberts, because of their recognized fitness to represent the state in Washington. Realizing the advantage it will be to the state to be represented by men of their ability and high character, I feel that I have the same right enjoyed by all other citizens to do all that I can to aid in their election. In the exercise of that right I have naturally tried to persuade all my friends to support them, and will continue to do so until election day.

Mr. McIntosh, the chairman of the democratic state central committee, in a communication to certain newspapers, has undertaken to characterize my efforts in behalf of Massey and Roberts as embodying "vilification, libel and slander" of their opponents. Statements have also been made in these transient papers to the effect that I have inspired certain lawsuits which have recently been brought against various companies with which the opponents of Massey and Roberts are identified, I simply desire to say that I not only did not inspire these suits, but had no knowledge of the fact that they would be brought. Any observer of my activities in behalf of Massey and Roberts knows that no slander, libel or vilification has been employed by me against their opponents. The fact that the chairman of the democratic committee and the transient newspapers are attempting to influence voters by these accusations simply indicates that, conscious of defeat, they have become desperate and hysterical.

It is entirely clear to my mind that the sober-minded public, knowing the superior qualifications of Massey and Roberts, will go into the booth on election day and vote them into office, regardless of these wild and false criticisms.

Another thing that is very clear to my mind is the fact that the public will understand that both the newspapers and the campaign officials that have made these attacks upon me are fulfilling only a temporary service, which expires on November 6, and that the obligation to be fair and to tell the truth does not rest heavily upon them. In the light of this knowledge, the public will understand that my efforts in behalf of Massey and Roberts are both sincere and proper, and will not be dissuaded from supporting them merely because I have seen fit to lend them my individual support.

(Signed) GEO. WINGFIELD.

U. S. SENATOR W. A. MASSEY

Senator W. A. Massey brought his campaign in southern Nevada to a close this morning when he departed on the north bound train for his Reno home. Senator Massey maintains his home in Nevada and has lived in this state for many years. After having had the senatorial honors conferred upon him he did not follow in the footsteps of other Nevada senators or senatorial candidates and migrate to California, but continued his Nevada residence.

In the election of Massey the people of Nevada will have a representative in the upper house of congress who is not biased by the railroads. With his defeat, the railroad representation from this state will number two votes. Consequently it behooves the voters to think twice before casting their ballots tomorrow.

During his campaign not one word of disrespect has passed his lips. He has treated his opponent in a courteous manner from every rostrum in the state. The paid campaigners of the democratic party have spoken otherwise and there has been nothing too small to be left unsaid. Contrasted with Senator Massey's campaign utterances, the result has won him hundreds of votes.

Washoe county, the home district of Senator Massey, will give him a majority of at least 1500 votes, and this number augmented by undoubted majorities from Elko, Humboldt, Eureka, Mineral, Clark, Esmeralda and Nye counties, insure his election.

TAFT WILL BE ELECTED REPUBLICANS ISSUE DETAILED STATEMENT

David W. Mulvane, director of the Taft campaign in the west, and Jos. B. Keating, chief of the organization bureau, today gave out the following statement.

"With the election now only a day away, many voters who have heretofore remained silent as to their intention are declaring themselves for President Taft. The polls taken and published by the newspapers do not reflect the present sentiment of the voters. In order to bolster up their weakness the third party people have rushed forward at every opportunity to vote straw ballots, while the quiet, thoughtful voters, who will decide his election, are now expressing themselves. They have been waiting to hear all sides before making up their minds.

"The drift is strongly Taft. Reports from all over the middle and far west are unanimously to the effect that the contest on the home stretch is between Taft and Wilson. This is so apparent that Roosevelt will run a poor third.

"Many voters who have been following the third tier realize now that a vote for Roosevelt is a vote for Wilson and they are not willing to take a chance on the free trade legislation, which they feel will follow the election of Wilson and a democratic congress. Voters now realize that a vote for Taft means a vote for continued prosperity and their pocketbooks, and that a vote for anyone else at least means taking a chance.

"A few days ago we requested the men in charge of the campaigns in the various states in our jurisdiction to give us an unbiased report as to the exact conditions as they exist in political matters. They know the sentiment in the different states, and the consensus of their opinion is:

"1. That Wilson will not get the democratic support that Bryan received in 1908.

"2. That Roosevelt is losing ground rapidly each day, and will run a poor third.

"3. That republicans who early in the campaign had made up their mind to vote for Wilson to insure the defeat of Roosevelt, realize now that the contest is between Taft and Wilson, and are coming back to Taft.

"After a careful analysis of all the reports received, and actual polls taken in these states, we do not hesitate to predict that President Taft is reasonably sure of carrying the following states:

Arizona ..... 3
Connecticut ..... 7

CAMPAIGN BROUGHT TO A CLOSE BY PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The vote to be cast for president tomorrow will exceed all previous records, if today's predictions are fulfilled.

Interest in the three cornered fight is intense throughout the union. The extent which the socialist party will cut into the vote of the other candidates is a matter of lively conjecture. The progressive leaders assert that Debs will poll a heavy vote, drawing from the republicans and democrats.

"Realizing the importance of this election, we do not hesitate to advise the republicans who thought of voting for Wilson to defeat Roosevelt, that there is now no use of doing that. If every republican from this day on who wants the republican party to succeed, and wants a continuation of the present prosperity, will go to the polls and vote for President Taft and the republican ticket, there will be no doubt of the result."
